GET INVOLVED / STUDENT SHOUT OUTS

This summer, Senior Taylor Worthington participated in the Florida Youth Institute through the University of Florida. The Florida Youth Institute is a program focusing on global food security and providing opportunities for students to understand how they can make local impacts to improve lives in their communities. Taylor shared her solutions on global food securities in a paper presented to a panel of experts representing agriculture, natural resources, and related science industries. She was selected to represent Florida in October as part of a delegation at the 2022 Global Youth Institute with the World Food Prize Foundation. In addition to receiving this recognition with the Florida Youth Institute, Taylor also was recently selected as 1 of only 11 students in Florida to participate in the FEMA Region 4 Youth Preparedness Council. The Youth Preparedness Council cultivates leadership and life skills by helping students share ideas and build stronger and more resilient communities. This CHS Academy student is going places and doing things to improve the lives of others in our community! Way to go, Taylor! Congratulations and Best Wishes for the Global Youth Institute in October!
